WALL TILES

METRO TILES

A look from the early 1920's that gained fast popularity in recent times, is the 'Subway-style rectangular tile' or the Metro Tile (named after the Parisian undergrounds), in bright, glossy white.

Historically, the bevelled metro tiles were used in an effort to reflect the dim artificial lighting within subways as much as possible. However, today metro tiles are used for their durability as well as their classic, clean and simple look – a style that is timeless.

Victorian Bathrooms stocks Metro Tiles 75 x 150mm with bevelled or flat edges in white and black, as well as exclusively supplying skirtings, dados and bevelled half tiles – just to complete and complement your already beautiful tiles.

Metro tiles are wonderful for shower walls or as splash areas behind washbasins and baths, and even behind the cooker in the kitchen.
